

Adopt One, Help Many

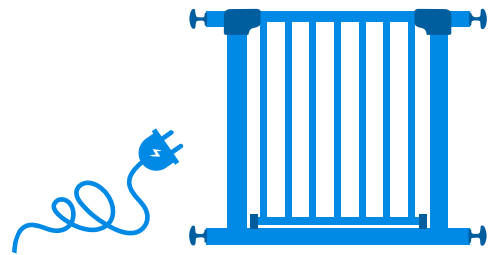

That's The Rescue Effect

Thank you for adopting! Choosing adoption frees space and resources for homeless pets to get the care they need. That's The Rescue Effect.

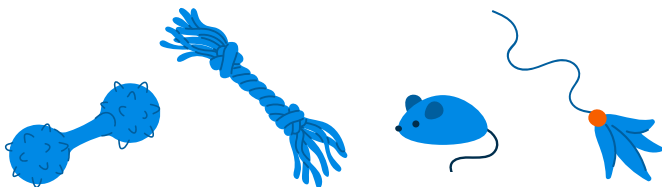

How to prepare your home for a new pet:

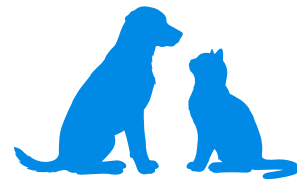

Create a quiet, safe space for your pet to decompress, like a separate room, a large, cozy crate or a soft bed.

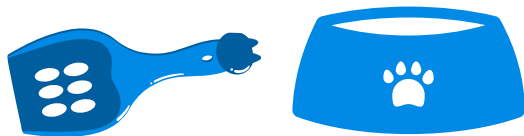

Pet-ready your home. Secure cords, windows and doors. Remove items your pet shouldn't chew, and consider using gates to limit access to specific areas.

Prep the fun stuff! Consider purchasing a few new toys to welcome your pet home.

If you already have a pet at home, store toys separately until your pets adjust to one another — they may need to learn to share!

Gather the necessities, like bowls for food and water and a litter box for your cat.
